Santa Fe, New Mexico, USA
Santa Fe History

- New Mexico became the 47th state in 1912.
- Santa Fe is the third oldest continuously occupied European-founded city in the United States (1610).
Santa Fe History

- Two hour’s drive away are the Native American Taos and Acoma Pueblos, founded circa 1000 AD.
- Santa Fe is on Route 66, and is the terminus of the “Santa Fe Trail”, an 1849 gold rush path to California.
Santa Fe Art

- The primary industry in Santa Fe is art.
- Almost 300 art galleries (not bad for a population of 75,000).
- Second largest market for fine art in the USA (after New York City).
Santa Fe Architecture

- Since the 1960s, all buildings in Santa Fe are required to be visually compatible with the tradition of mud brick (adobe) construction.
Santa Fe Food

- Foodie’s paradise: some of the finest restaurants in the US, including Geronimo, The Compound, and Coyote Cafe.

- (I’ve eaten this dish – it’s GOOD.)
Santa Fe Shopping

- Southwestern and Native American clothing and jewelry.
- Amazing array of home décor, clothing, and antique shops with a far broader outlook.
- (Santa Fe is a popular retreat for the rich and famous.)
Santa Fe Museums

- Georgia O’Keeffe
- International Folk Art
- Indian Arts and Culture
- Wheelwright American Indian
- New Mexico Art
- Contemporary Arts
- Contemporary Native Arts
- ...
Santa Fe Access

- Santa Fe Airport (SAF, below) has connections only to Los Angeles (LAX) and Dallas/Fort Worth (DFW).

- Albuquerque Sunport (ABQ) is a fully-connected airport (United, Continental, American, Delta, etc.) about 70 mi (120 km) from Santa Fe.

- Three options for ABQ-Santa Fe transfer:
  - Rented automobile.
  - Airport shuttle service ($50 round trip as of 11/2010).
  - “Rail Runner Express” train (taxi ride at both ends).
Santa Fe Hotel

- Hilton Santa Fe Historic Plaza – two blocks from the plaza.

- $139/night (+ tax)
  Includes breakfast, coffee & snacks, parking, internet.
