

IEEE 802 Document Subscription Service

IEEE 802 has made an arrangement with Alphagraphics of Phoenix, AZ to offer a subscription service for 802 working group documents. The intent of this program is to allow individuals or companies to subscribe to the documents and working drafts for one or more working groups. Each time new or revised documents are added to the working group list, copies will be automatically sent to all the working group subscribers. Note that in the case where update pages for an earlier draft have already been provided, a chairman may choose to reduce subscriber cost and not have an entire revised document automatically sent to his subscribers each time. These documents will be clearly identified by a <not to subscribers> tag on the IEEE 802 Document Order Form and may be ordered separately with that form if the complete revised document is desired. If a working group chairman chooses to send in additional documents between plenary sessions, copies will be sent to subscribers with minimal delay (<7 days). This service should be of great benefit to those who cannot regularly attend the working group plenary or interim sessions, but who wish to track progress of one or more working groups.

In order to keep accounting and collection overhead to a minimum, the service will be run on a charge-as-you-go basis. Subscribers will be expected to provide a valid credit card account number to which all charges will be applied. Charges will be computed on a flat rate (cents per page) basis plus handling charges. Each time a shipment of documents is sent, a statement of current charges for that shipment will be included in the package. Subscribers will be asked to fill out, sign and return the attached subscription form authorizing future charges to their credit card account.

The subscription will begin with the first set of documents sent after the subscription has been received by Alphagraphics. Note: No copies of earlier documents will be sent automatically. To get copies of earlier documents you should use the standard IEEE 802 Document Order Form, which you will find enclosed with this form. Once on file a subscription will stay active on an ongoing basis as long as the credit card account continues to authorize charges. If a subscriber credit card account should ever fail to authorize the required charges for a shipment, no documents will be sent. Instead a "notice of subscription suspension due to credit card validation failure" together with a new subscription order form will be sent. No further document shipments will be attempted until the subscription order has been re-established with a valid credit card account. Subscribers wishing to discontinue or change their subscription order must notify Alphagraphics in writing of such changes. All charges for documents shipped prior to receipt of written notification will be considered properly authorized and must be paid by the subscriber.

This is an experimental offer. Adjustments to the program may be required as we gain experience. Suggestions on how to improve the program are welcomed, but too much complexity or change will not be productive and may discourage Alphagraphics from wanting to work on this. Let's all cooperate to see if we can make this work.

Thank you,

Dr. E. O. Rigsbee, IEEE 802 Executive Secretary

IEEE 802 Document Subscription Service Order

This form will allow you to enter or revise a subscription to the working documents for one or more IEEE 802 Working Groups. Your subscription will begin with the first set of documents sent after your subscription form has been received. Each time the Working Group Chairperson adds new or revised documents to the subscribers list, copies will be sent to you with minimal delay (<7 days). Copies will be sent by US Air Mail or International Air Mail unless you request priority handling with overnight express delivery and provide the charge number for your preferred express carrier. Along with this subscription order form you should have received a copy of the current IEEE 802 Document Order Form. If you wish any of the earlier documents from that list you should fill in the form to order those as a separate item.

You are expected to provide a valid credit card account to cover the cost of the documents shipped for each working group included in your subscription. The amount shown for each working group has been estimated to cover the cost of approximately one year's documents, but this is NOT guaranteed. With each shipment you will receive a statement indicating the charges to your credit card account for that shipment. If the credit card account should ever fail to validate for the current charge, no documents will be shipped; instead a "notice of subscription suspension due to credit card validation failure" together with a new subscription form will be sent. No further document shipments will be attempted until the subscription order has been re-established with a valid credit card account. Subscribers wishing to discontinue or change an existing subscription order must notify Alphagraphics in writing of such changes. All charges for documents shipped prior to receipt of written notification will be considered properly authorized and must be paid by the subscriber. Please check one: This is a NEW or REVISED or CANCEL order.
